Hello Zillow Team,

I'm applying for the Senior Software Development Engineer (Full Stack) role. Designing, building and operating web apps end to end is the work I've done at every stage of my career.

At Ralli I built the Next.js app and NestJS/Postgres services with live WebSocket updates and Datadog tracing, then rebuilt the product as a Turborepo monorepo, and led the team. At Coordinator I built a Go data gateway with scoped tokens that grew into an app store, shipped voice messaging in the web app, and built the CI that ran the end-to-end suite on every release merge. At Applied Intuition I built a full-stack intranet and a license dashboard that helped close multiple million dollar deals.

To be direct about the gap: the posting asks for eight years and I have seven. I've led technical direction as a founder/CTO rather than inside a large engineering org.

I'd be glad to talk about the role.
